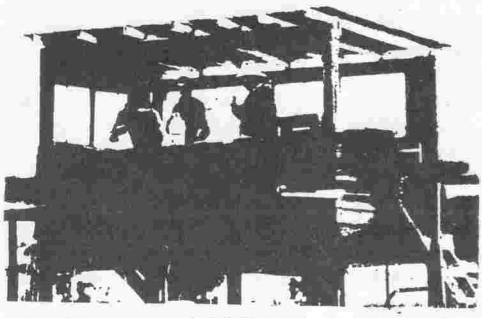
From the Crow's Nest



Another successful NRA Finals is behind us once again, and the summer rodeo season will be upon us before we know what hit us. Must be time to "get organized," get our priorities straightened out, and generally get ready.

Getting ready takes planning, and that is what needs to be done if you want to get advertising or information in the newsletter. Think ahead long enough so that we can get it in the newsletter in time for everyone to be informed. Keep in mind that it takes a couple of weeks to get all the info for the newsletter compiled, and another couple of weeks to get it printed, and in the mail, and then, depending on the efficiency that day of the Postal Service, one to two weeks to reach you. And remember, if you move, your newsletter will not be forwarded, so keep us informed of your current address.

Included in this issue of the newsletter is a membership application. Use it. Adding your social security number to the application is a must. Please also note that this year, for the first time, non-contesting members pay a $25 membership fee. This special fee is for timers, secretaries, pickup men, announcers, clowns and contract acts.

Rodeos for Montana High School Rodeo Association competitors and Big Sky Region National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association are on tap soon. Be sure to support these young competitors - they are the future and the back bone of the Northern Rodeo Association.

Pay your dues early and avoid the rush. Before April 15, $70 will do the trick; after that it takes $80. You will save the NRA office a lot of paperwork if you pay your dues early, and save yourself $10.

Planning is what was on the agenda in Las Vegas the weekend of Feb. 18, 19, 20 and 21, when the North American Rodeo Commission held its annual spring meeting. Representing the NRA were Glen Hough and Jann Johnson, along with NARC Directors Ed Waldhauser and Lois Hill.

It is hoped that the newsletters will come out on a more regular monthly basis as rodeo season comes closer and closer. Help us help you by getting your news and information to us or Jann by the 15th of the month preceding publication.

Your Editors,
Tootie and Stan Rasmussen

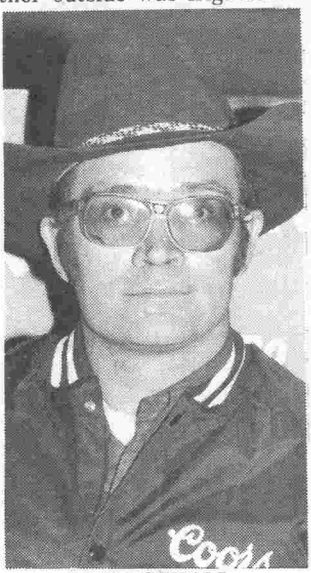
NRA Year-end Champions Crowned

The weather was typical Montana cold and snowy, but inside the METRA at Billings, things really heated up as year-end champions were crowned as they roped and spurred their way into the history books. The annual NRA Finals packed in the people even though the weather outside was frightful.



BOB SCHALL

Laying claim to his tenth NRA bareback riding title was Bob Schall, who came into the Finals a precarious $99.64 ahead of college cowboy Scott Tomlin. And the bareback riding proved to be real "nippy and tucky" during the three-day rodeo. Schall won Friday night's round with a 74 on Grebe's "Dapple," and Tomlin tied for third with Bruce Martin with a 72 on "Tumbleweed" owned by Powder River Rodeo Productions. On Saturday, both Schall and Tomlin marked 75 with Schall riding Jacobs' "Sissy Blue" and Tomlin atop Small's "Featherweight." Ironically, on Sunday, Schall had drawn Featherweight and Tomlin had drawn Sissy Blue. Both cowboys marked 77, but because of the two point differential on Friday night, Schall had won the average for the Finals, and thus claimed the bareback riding title once again.

Despite only placing in one go-around at the Finals, and failing to ride all three horses, Kirk Marchant retained his lead to take home the 1987 Saddle Bronc Riding championship saddle, his first ever after several close calls. The big race proved to be in second place, as past champion Butch Reynolds placed first in the average, past champion Jim Walker placed second, and Reynolds went ahead of Walker in the year-end standings.

The bull riding provided another "first" as young, collegiate cowboy Dave Mason stayed just ahead of Scott Breding to take the year-end championship. Rookie Mark Ringler claimed the finals average qualifying on all three bulls, the only bull rider to conquer all three. His fine showing at the Finals catapulted him from sixth place in the standings to fourth place.

Rooster Reynolds proved a living example of how warm weather can keep a body and mind tuned up, as he came into the Finals a comfortable $1,845.97 ahead of his closest competitor, and after spending the winter in Tuscson, threw all three steers in short order, winning the finals average and taking home his first NRA championship. He said he knows now why the ducks go south. His famous "rooster shuffle" was a hit with METRA audiences each day, and compared in comic relief to the "chicken walk" which clown John Gilstrap is famous for. The two compared dances on Sunday during the rodeo.

ROOSTER REYNOLDS

The real race in the steer wrestling came in the jockeying for runner-up position, as only $248.76 separated second place Bob Schall from fifth place Al Franzen. Franzen placed in all three go-arounds, and took home second in the average, to go ahead of Schall in the year-end standings by only $6.24, rising from fifth place to second place.

In the calf roping, Bill Parker came into the Finals in the eighth spot, roped steadily and well, and won the average on three head with a combined time of 39.3. His earnings during the finals vaulted him into the third spot in year-end standings. Spike Guardipee retained the lead he had coming into the rodeo, and won the year-end calf roping championship.

Guardipee and Parker came into the finals leading the standings in the team roping, but many time champion Glen Hough closed the gap from $714.07 to $161.57, to scare the two, but not enough to win the crown away from them. The two placed first in one go-around, but failed to place in any others, while Hough and his partner, Jeff Gorrell, placed second in two go-arounds and second in the average while they closed the gap.

Larry Steele and Rick Tryan placed in all three go-arounds and had a time of 26.7 on three head to capture the finals average.

Athletic Spike Guardipee came into the Finals leading two events, the calf roping and the team roping with partner Bill Parker. His prowess with a rope came to light during the rodeo as he won two championships, and took home the coveted all-around cowboy title with 1987 winnings of $8,917.95. These championships were NRA firsts for Guardipee.

SPIKE GUARDIPEE

Both Bill Parker and Richard Carpenter roped well enough in the Finals to move up in the standings, Carpenter from fourth to third, and Parker from lowly eighth clear up to fourth.

While the men's events had their moments of suspense, it was the women's events which brought audiences off their hands. Lisa Scheffer came into the Finals in first place in the barrel racing, a position in which she has been a number of other times, but she was only $937.94 ahead of her closest competitor, 11-year-old Jody Petersen. Jody's horse "Cowboy" ran exceptionally well indoors, she placed in all three go-arounds and won the average, picking up $1445 for her efforts, while Lisa placed in only one go-around, placed fourth in the average, but earned only $340 during the weekend, and Jody posted a come-from-behind victory in the year-end standings to take home the championship saddle.

Those who know Mary Melaney will tell you that competitiveness seems to be "built in." She has been competing in one sport or another all her life, and her closest competitor has been her sister, Chris (now Chris Fredericks, wife of saddle bronc rider Casey Fredericks). Raised on the family ranch in the foothills of the Rockies near where the Dearborn River flows into the Missouri, Mary has been around horses, cattle, rodeo and competitiveness since she was born.

She came into the Finals in first place in the breakaway roping, and held off second place Nancy Petersen to claim the crown for 1987. Past breakaway champion Janie (Glennie) Carlson, roped her way past Nancy during the Finals into second place in the year-end standings, and did so with a new five-week-old son rooting her on from the stands.

Mary Melaney was touted during the Finals as the first woman to qualify for the Finals in three events (NRA approves only two events exclusively for the ladies). One article in a Montana daily newspaper featured her expert roping with a headline, "For a girl she sure can rope." Teamed up with her partner Mark Salmond of Choteau, Mary serves as the heeler in the team roping, and the two qualified in 15th place to come to the NRA Finals, and qualified higher than that for the Montana Pro-Rodeo Circuit Finals in Great Falls in January. They have since qualified for the Dodge Circuit Finals in Pocatello, Idaho in March.

Sandi Nordahl rounded the three Coors barrels in 14.03 to win the first go-around.

MARY MELANEY

Cinde Barthelmess enjoyed her best performance yet at the NRA Finals in the breakaway roping, placing in all three go-arounds, and taking the finals average with a time on three head of 11.5. This came in spite of the fact that Cinde and Mike's trailer was knocked off the hitch, and their suburban turned completely around when a vehicle ran into them on the Interstate near Columbus as the Barthelmess family was headed to Billings. She moved up from fifth place to fourth place in the year-end standings.

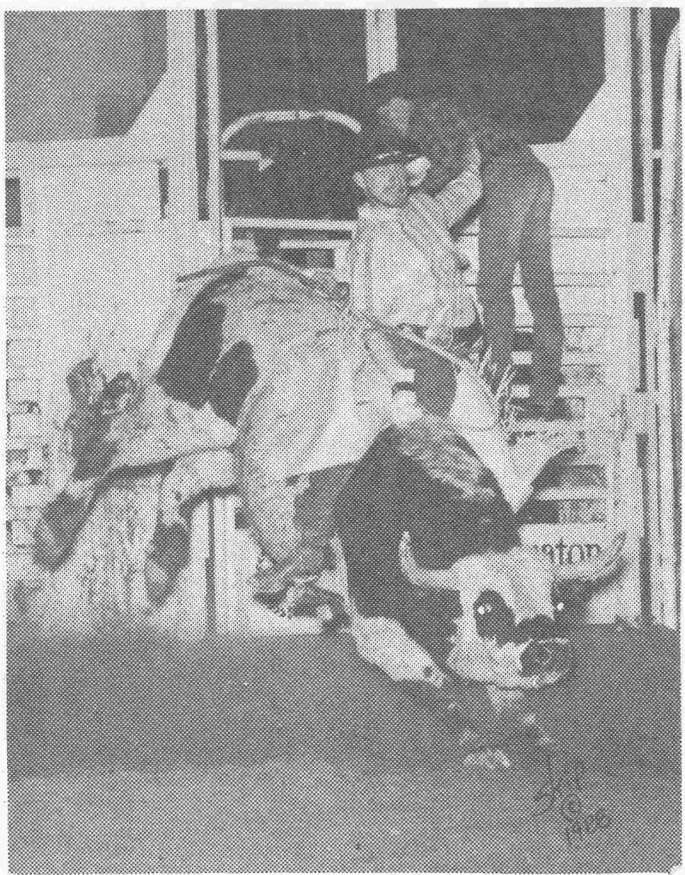
Behind Lisa Scheffer by only $62.28, Mary barrel raced and roped her way past perennial all-around Lisa to win the Ladies All-Around title for 1987, with a total of $8,737.27 in winnings for the year.

The junior competitors took to the Metra arena floor on Saturday morning. In the barrel racing, Deanna Dryer of Ovando won both go-arounds and the average, and the leader going into the Finals, Jody Petersen, could muster only a third in one go-around, but Deanna was not able to overcome the $247 deficit to allow Jody to win the junior barrel racing crown for the year.

Tell Steinbach led the junior breakaway roping standings by only $82.15 coming into the finals, but he won fourth in the first go-around and third in the second, to win the average and guarantee his year-end finish in the first position in the breakaway. Ty Parker of Three Forks placed second in the average and his winnings put him in second place in the year-end standings ahead of Tanya Tryan who failed to place at the Finals.

Jody Petersen's all-around lead was too great to surmount, and she won another title, but Deanna Dryer won enough at the finals to overtake Tanya Tryan for runner-up spot in the all around race in the junior NRA division.

Finals manager George Runquist has not submitted his final tabulation on how the rodeo financially made out, but it is known that ticket sales were at least $200 over that of last year.



Scott Breding, defending NRA bull riding champion, conquered this bull to remain in contention for the '87 crown, but bucked off his last bull, and Dave Mason won the title.

NRA Presents Its Special Awards

Each year the Northern Rodeo Association presents a number of special awards during the annual awards banquet. While they often get only the one-time recognition, they are, nonetheless, considered prestigious, and very special by their winners.

The first awards were for the "Horse of the Year" in all events. All received feed donated by ConAgra, along with headstalls for the rough stock and a plaque from Hill Photo.

Bareback Horse of the Year was Come Apart, owned by Dale Small.

Saddle Bronc Horse of the Year was Calvert High, owned by Dale Small.

Bull of the Year was Deacon, owned by Dale Small.

Calf Roping Horse of the Year was Tommy, owned by Bill Parker.

Team Roping Horse was Duffy, owned by Phil Fleming.

Steer Wrestling Horse was Buck, owned by Brad and Shawn Gleason.

Barrel Racing Horse was Cowboy, owned by Jody Petersen.

Breakaway Roping Horse was 37, owned by Janie Carlson.

Rough Stock of the Finals awards are annually presented by WestMont Agency of Choteau and Stan Rasmussen, who is a partner in the firm. Each of these owners receives a money clip. Winners this year were "Come Apart," and "Calvert High," owned by Dale Small, and "Arizona," owned by Hank and Lori Franzen.

Finally, after waiting since the Fourth of July weekend, Scott Tomlin received the beautiful Black Hills gold ring which he won in the "Ride For The Diamonds" promotion by the committees and stock contractors from Ennis, Harlowton and Roundup. The award was given to the rough stock cowboy earning the most money over the "cowboy's Christmas" July 4 weekend of rodeos. Tomlin won $962.24 over the weekend, and sports the beautiful ring to prove it.

SCOTT TOMLIN

CINDE BARTHELMESS

The Stafford Hersrud Memorial Award, given by his family, went to the Finals Average Breakaway Roping winner, Cinde Barthelmess.

Loyd Ketchum was named "Bull Fighter of the Year" and Pickup Men of the Year were Dick Lyman and Dick Bassett.

Eleven-year-old Jody Petersen was named NRA "Rookie of the Year" with total 1987 earnings of $4,885.78, and her buckle was donated by the Glennie Ranches of Two Dot, and Custom Saddlery of Bozeman.

JODY PETERSEN

Other rookie event winners, who received hat bands from Alvin Wagner and Stetsen, were: bareback riding, Delbert Moore; saddle bronc riding, Scott Augare; bull riding, Mark Ringler; calf roping, Jim Howell; steer wrestling, Bruce Coburn; team roping, Shane Schwenke, and ladies breakaway roping, Marcey Wacker.

The ever prestigious "Personality of the Year" award this year went to Ed Waldhauser and his wife, Tonya. The award annually goes to that person, or persons, who have dedicated themselves and their time to the success of the Northern Rodeo Association. Other winners throughout the years have been: 1977, Tom Toomy, Lewistown; 1978, The Gusick Family and Louie Herron of Billings; 1979, Dr. Howard Holloway of Harlowton; 1980, Bill Fraser of Great Falls (now of Africa); 1981, John and Lois Hill and family; 1982, Stan and Tootie Rasmussen; 1983, Jann Johnson; 1984, Ed and Karen Miller; 1985, Bob and Irene Glasgow; 1986, Dale and Lucille Small.

The new winners of the NRA Personality of the Year award beam proudly with the traveling trophy they keep for a year. Tonya and Ed Waldhauser join an elite group of past winners whose names are engraved on the trophy.

NRA Awards 'Rodeos of Year'

For the second year, the Northern Rodeo Association awarded plaques to the rodeo committees whose rodeos were selected "Rodeo of the Year."

One award went to an already established rodeo, and another went to a rodeo new to the NRA.

The established "Rodeo of the Year" award went to the Harlowton Chamber of Commerce for their annual Fourth of July Rodeo. The first-year rodeo award remained in a tie between the Choteau American Legion Fourth of July Rodeo, and the Plentywood rodeo.

The selection committee used the following criteria in selecting the 1987 winners: facilities, stock, added money, attendance, crowd enthusiasm, committee and NRA relationship, and over-all success.

The awards were established to reward local rodeo committees in their untiring efforts at putting on top rodeos, great family entertainment, in their various towns across the state.

Board of Directors Meeting

FEBRUARY 6, 1988 – 11:00 A.M. – BILLINGS SHERATON HOTEL

President Glen Hough called the meeting to order. A quorum was verified. Those board members present included: GLEN HOUGH, BUTCH BRATSKY, ED WALDHAUSER, MIKE NOBLE, WAYNE KELLY, NICK ECONOM, MARK CAIN, BRUCE MARTIN, SCOTT SCHALL, CINDE BARTHELMESS, MARY MELANEY, BOB GRAVELY, RODGER NORDAHL, BILL LYNN, NANCY PETERSEN, DR. HOWARD HOLLOWAY, DANNY HALVORSON, MARIE EBLEN, JIM BUSHNELL, DR. JOHN HALSETH, LOIS HILL, BOB SCHALL.

The minutes of the November 15, 1987 Board of Directors meeting were distributed and approved as written. The finances of the Association were discussed and approved subject to audit.

The Awards Program was addressed. Total 1987 cost of awards was $13,928. Of this total, $10,414 has been sponsored. The NRA will assume $3,413 of the total.

The newly elected board members were introduced: bareback riding, Scott Schall; saddle bronc riding, Wayne Kelly; ladies breakaway roping, Mary Melaney; calf roping, Lyle Baumann; west committee, Rodger Nordahl, Janet Endecott, Bob Graveley.

The outgoing board members were thanked for their support and work: bareback riding, Bruce Martin; saddle bronc riding, Mike Noble for Buzz Cope; ladies breakaway roping, Cinde Barthelmess; calf roping, Mark Cain; ladies barrel racing, Marie Eblen.

The Ladies Barrel Racing director will be put out for re-ballot in the next issue of the newsletter. Nominations were accepted. Betsy Evans, Lisa Dupea, and Cinde Barthelmess were nominated.

George Runquist reported on the Finals thus far.

Jim Bushnell presented the bull riding entry fee/day money proposal. The entry fees will be scaled according to the added money as follows: $100-$200 added money, $25 entry fee; $201-$400 added money, $35 entry fee; $401-$500 added money, $45 entry fee; $501-750 added money, $50 entry fee; $751-$1000 added money, $75 entry fee; $1001 and over added money, fees set by the board.

Rodger Nordahl moved: The board accept the added money/entry fee scale for the bull riding event only. Lane Yeager, seconded. Passed.

Jim Bushnell also proposed a day money system to be used in the bull riding only. The "sidepot" entry fees will be $25. The original entry fee will be included with the added money for the rodeo, 3% taken off, and proper payoffs made. The other $25 of the "sidepot" entry fee will be paid out to the bull riders who qualified in a given performance. Example: 10 bull riders up in a performance, two qualify. All paid "sidepot" day money fees of $25. The "sidepot" day money entry fee is $25 x 10 bull riders = $250. This total will be split evenly among the qualifiers. $250 divided by 2 = $125 to each qualifier. The "sidepot" day money does not count towards Association points. If all bull riders in a performance fail to qualify, a ground split of "sidepot" day money will be made. Slack will be considered a performance. Ed Miller moved: The board of directors accept the bull riding day money proposal. Griff Davidson seconded. Passed.

Ed Miller moved: The NRA pay Glen Hough $1500 for his work and dedication as president. Tom Holland, seconded. Passed unanimously.

Joe Calnan and Griff Davidson of the Boulder Rodeo Committee addressed their concerns of uneven entries at the Boulder Rodeo to the board. Discussion.

Wayne Kelly moved: Any contestant who draws out of a rodeo after receiving their first preference of performances at a given rodeo or rodeos will be fined $20 per infraction. Ed Miller seconded. Passed.

Junior events were discussed.

Companion passes were discussed. A survey had been sent to all committees asking for their opinion on companion passes. Most felt that there is little control over the passes. Companion passes will be left up to the individual committee and those wishing to allow companions may so state on their sanction form and will be advertised in the NRA News.

Companion passes at the NRA Finals rodeo were discussed. Ed Miller moved: Companion Passes will be issued, one to each contestant, including the junior contestants, for the NRA Finals rodeo. Pete Ferster seconded. Passed.

Lois Hill updated the board on the North American Rodeo Commission. The N.A.R.C. Annual Meeting is set for Feb. 18-21 in Las Vegas, and the 1988 dues will be set at that time. It was felt that the dues will be $2250, same as in 1987. Butch Bratsky moved: The NRA join the North American Rodeo Commission for 1988. Jim Bushnell, seconded. Passed.

Tom Holland moved: Jann Johnson attend the N.A.R.C. convention in Las Vegas. Cinde Barthelmess, seconded. Passed.

Ed Miller moved: in the team roping event, a heeler may tie on if they are over 50 years old. Bill Lynn, seconded. Passed.

Discussion regarding the selection of the rough stock for the Finals rodeo. Other methods of selection will be looked into and a recommendation brought before the board.

The central entry contract is up for re-negotiation this year. A committee has been formed to look into central entry options. Committee includes: Jim Bushnell, chairman; Ed Waldhauser, Glen Hough, Jann Johnson, Lois Hill and Butch Bratsky.

Two loops in the Breakaway Roping at the Finals was discussed. Breakaway ropers, if you have a suggestion or proposal, please bring to the next board meeting.

Meeting adjourned.

COVERING ALL ASPECTS OF RODEO THROUGHOUT THE NORTHWEST U.S.

NARC Notes

By Lois Hill

Following is a brief summary of the North American Rodeo Commission convention held Feb. 18-20 at the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada.

On Thursday a directors meeting was held, on Friday a general membership meeting. All directors, and 22 of the 26 member associations were in attendance, the best turnout ever.

Some of the items discussed and decided are as follows:

The 1988 Coors World Finals Rodeo will be held Nov. 5-12 at El Paso, Texas. The committee from the new Ogden, Utah complex was thanked for their bid, and will be kept in mind when the contract with El Paso expires in two years. Other sites have also voiced interest in hosting the Coors World Finals Rodeo, as well. The El Paso County Commissioners sent a letter stating that adequate new lighting and sound, plus a repair of the roof were already approved for this summer.

Rode Walker was chosen to make the official CWFR jackets. They will be blue and white, and will be available to all regional association members in other colors. Watch the Mid America Rodeo News for an advertisement.

Five Star Marketing was hired to obtain corporate sponsorships. Donna Keffler, who formerly was a Coors spokeswoman, now is employed by this firm.

Mid America Rodeo News reinforced their support of the North America Rodeo Commission, and stated that if any association had 500 or more $10 family subscriptions, they would donate a saddle to that association's awards program. They put out 18 issues a year, and can specialize with inserts or separate mailings for each association as required.

All associations were asked to send a list of their qualified stock contractors to Bert Casper, the stock coordinator. All personnel applications should be sent to their regional association office for screening by May 1, and only the recommended ones will be sent on to the North American board for consideration.

Breakaway roping was proclaimed a standard event. The rule changes were, to have a clean bell catch, one loop in each long go, and two in the short go.

The dues structure for regional associations to belong to the North American Rodeo Commission will be the same.

Blaketch of Helena was chosen to be the producer of official NARC glassware. His ad will appear in the Mid America Rodeo News.

It was by unanimous decision to have the 1989 convention back in Las Vegas in late January. The attendance at the 1988 meeting was the best ever, and everyone enjoyed having the variety of entertainment in the evenings.

On Saturday a number of seminars was held. Don Sober of Coors met with about a half dozen associations at a time and went over the Coors program in their areas. Other topics of seminars were: how to assist your committees; working with corporate and local sponsors; publicity and public relations; budgeting in regional association; duties and helpful hints for association secretaries. Then all joined for an open discussion, with everyone exchanging ideas.

The convention ended with a Coors hospitality hour and a fabulous buffet banquet that was as delicious as it was attractive.

Representing the Northern Rodeo Association were President Glen Hough, and Secretary Jann Johnson. Lois Hill and Ed Waldhauser are NARC directors. Tonya Waldhauser, Peggy Hough, and John Hill entertained themselves at the gaming tables while everyone else was busy.

Evenings were spent enjoying the big variety of shows in Las Vegas.

Board of Directors To Meet Mar. 27

President Glen Hough has called a meeting of the NRA Board of Directors for Sunday, March 27, beginning at 9 a.m., at the administration building of the Lewis and Clark County Fairgrounds in Helena.

The meeting will be held during the Big Sky Region NIRA opening rodeo. Many important items are on the agenda. All directors and other interested persons are urged to attend.

NORTHERN RODEO ASSOCIATION NRA

THANKS

The break-in jackpot was a success again, due mostly to the efforts of the timed event directors who worked their tails off, loading cattle, selecting cattle for the rodeo, and seeing that the event went off well. Also thanks to Duane Lenning and Eddie Miller who worked tirelessly all day. To anyone else who jumped in and helped, thanks a lot.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

MEETING

SUNDAY, MAR. 27

BEGINNING AT 9 A.M.

LEWIS & CLARK COUNTY FAIRGROUNDS, HELENA

DURING BIG SKY REGION NIRA RODEO

MEETING WILL BE HELD IN THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

"Huffings from Hough"

Fellow NRA Members,

I hope this letter finds everyone well recuperated from the finals and looking forward to another successful year.

I'm going to take this opportunity to thank all of those people that have helped me keep our association strong and viable during the past three years. Those people, of course, include the committees first of all, because we would have no rodeos without their support. Next, thanks to the contractors that have chosen to support us by virtue of taking their large investment to our approved events. The contestants are also a necessary cog of this wheel of support, and I thank those that are cooperative and willing to support us as an association. Last of all, a big thanks to the people on the board that have given of their time and money to help me administer the best regional association going.

The finals was once again successful with the association making a profit. That is extremely important to our plans for each ensuing year. Thanks to everyone that cooperated to make it work. I would ask at this time that any member that sees a place that he/she can be of benefit to your organization during the year, either at the rodeos or in your community, to jump in and help for the benefit of everyone. Thanks, and I'm looking forward to another successful year of NRA rodeo.

Sincerely,

Glen Hough, NRA President

Jeanne Carpenter has relinquished her college career in California to come back to Montana and operate "Cowboy's Digest," a new rodeo tabloid devoted exclusively to rodeo news and ropings of all kinds and sanctioned by everyone. See the coupon elsewhere in this edition of the newsletter to subscribe to the publication.

The annual NRA Finals awards banquet enjoyed a new master of ceremonies this year. Tom Holland filled in for Stan Rasmussen who had to fly home early for the funeral of a business associate.

Becky Tescher spent a couple of weeks in sunny California in January, and she said she was vacationing.

Lane Yeager has moved back to Choteau where he is residing on the "upper place" of Nitumo Land and Cattle.

Engaged and planning an August wedding: Mark Salmond of Choteau, son of Jim and Frances, and Mary Melaney of Wolf Creek, daughter of Susie and Chuck.

Delbert Moore suffered a dislocated shoulder during the NRA Finals, but is on the mend.

Josie Bohn of Winnett had major surgery the first part of February, but is recuperating now at her Winnett home. She is the wife of Rex Bohn and the grandmother of those little red-headed Gorrell grandkids.

Janie and Beef Carlson are proud new parents of Jason, born on Dec. 29. Although he only weighed 7 pounds, 15 ounces at birth, he was 23 inches long, and is busy now chowing down to fill out that big frame. Needless to say, he has made a place in the Carlson home, and grandmother, Jane Glennie, is a willing babysitter.

Correction from the last newsletter: Will and Darcy Rasmussen's baby girl, Kyla Ann, was born on Nov. 27. A typesetter's goof!

Rodeo competitors have long been maligned, as "Party go-ers," "Wild Hands," etc. And yet, those involved with the sport know that they are some of the most talented athletes in the world today. Young high school cowboy, Jason Evans of Biddle, demonstrates that quality. A high school senior at Broadus, Jason made it to the NRA Finals in the calf roping in fifth place, and placed fourth in the average. He is an outstanding high school athlete, being selected all-conference quarterback in football, and was recently selected as an alternate team roper on the National High School Rodeo team, the first Montanan to be selected for the team since it began in 1983. He is also the student president of the Montana High School Rodeo Association.

Verna Steinbach was recently named secretary of the Montana High School Rodeo Association. She brings many years of experience into the position, including a long stint as secretary of District 3.

Married on Jan. 30 in Helena, were immediate past Miss Rodeo Montana Tammy Clark, and former NRA Bareback rider, turned rodeo announcer, Curt Pate. Both are from Helena where they are now residing, following adventures in Calgary at the Olympics rodeo and a future trip to announce a rodeo in Hawaii.

Jody Petersen was named "Athlete of the Week" by the Montana Television Network during the week following the NRA Finals.

Lisa Scheffer arrived back from Australia only two weeks before the Finals, all sun-tanned and sporting a Aussie accent. Fiance Phil Mainey arrived in Billings only hours before the start of the NRA Finals. A wedding is imminent between these two.

The Harlowton July 4 rodeo announces that they will be having a rookie bareback riding competition this year. More on this in future issues. Also, they will honor companion passes, but companions must pass through the contestant gate.

Lisa Sluggett, one of the congenial voices you have enjoyed hearing on the Big Sky Rodeo Central Entry the past few years, has been appointed Petroleum County Treasurer, and has moved to Winnett. She is also the secretary of the Winnett Roping Club.

Scott Schall and Jennifer Drynan of Helena, have announced their engagement, and forthcoming marriage May 21 in Helena.

Dredged from a June 1979 newspaper, this item: Spike Guardipee and Mary Melaney were named all-around cowboy and all-around cowgirl of the District 3 High School Rodeo held in Choteau.

The picturesque, historic barn on the Glennie Ranch at Two Dot burned to the ground on Feb. 5, killing seven valuable horses in the process.

It was a girl! "Jessica" was born to Joyce (Bignell) and Bill Ayre of Glendive sometime near the due date of Nov. 28, according to "Auntie" Janet Bignell. Janet also wasn't sure of weight, length, etc., but she was sure she had a niece.

A March 5 wedding in Billings united Stacy Waldhauser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Waldhauser, and Lyle Baumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lannie Baumann.

Past Officers Reminisce at Breakfast

An event that began as an experiment in nostalgia, has resulted in the establishment of a tradition. That event is the Past Presidents' Breakfast, held on Sunday morning during the Finals weekend. Past presidents of both the NRA and MRA have an opportunity to get together and compare the years since they served as leader of their groups, how things have changed, how they have not changed, and what others in their peer groups are doing now.

This year, a group of people added their presence to the breakfast at the Sheraton: the past secretaries of both the MRA and NRA.

In these photographs, you can see those who made the trip to Billings for the breakfast, and for the Sunday afternoon performance of the rodeo.

Big Sky Region NIRA Spring Rodeo Schedule

April 15, 16, 17 — University of Montana, Missoula.

June 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18 — College National Finals Rodeo, Bozeman.

The past presidents and past secretaries, and their spouses, of the NRA and the MRA enjoyed another reunion and a chance to reflect, reminisce and remember, during the annual breakfast hosted by the NRA during the NRA Finals. Pictured above, back row, left to right, Dave Duffey, Larry Jordan Sr., Clint Martin, Sharon Martin, Ron Bohleen, Sherri Bohleen, Lois Hill, John Hill, Arlene Haugland, Bob Haugland, Delbert High, Janice High, Sharon Icenoggle, Edgar Icenoggle, Elaine Gravely, Bob Gravely, and NRA Finals rodeo manager George Runquist. John and Lois Hill were awarded this silver buckle for having their charolais-cross steer declared the Montana State University Steer A Year feedlot champion. Their steer led the contest from the beginning, finishing with an average daily gain of 3.92. The buckle was handmade by Valdez Silversmiths of Great Falls.

Timed Event Champions To Be Named

Tom Holland announced recently that the first annual Montana Timed Event Championship will be held in Dillon on Saturday, May 28, with action taking place at the Beaverhead County Fairgrounds.

Limited to the first 25 entries who pay an entry fee of $250 each, the contestants will be required to compete in the calf roping, steer wrestling, and team roping, both heading and heeling. Each event will consist of two go-arounds, and the winner will be decided on an aggregate score. Only Montana residents may enter.

Prizes include a horse trailer for the first place overall winner, a saddle for the second place winner, and buckles will be awarded to the four winners in the events. Other prizes include thousands of dollars in merchandise.

Entries close Friday, May 13. More detailed rules and information will be published in the next newsletter, along with an entry blank.

For more information contact Tom Holland at 683-6881 (office) or 683-2263 (home).

In addition, on Sunday, May 29, the third annual "Rope and Stroke" will be held in Dillon, which requires competitors to golf 18 holes and rope 3 steers, all with the same partner.

And as if that isn't enough, on Monday, May 30, the fourth annual Rancher Roundup will be held.

Watch for more information on this action-packed Memorial Day weekend in Dillon.
