Association has never had a voice on the board of directors, even though over the years they have played a vital role in the policies and procedures of the Association. Now that we have a voice on the board, let's use it!

If your activities in the NRA can be categorized as "contract personnel" and you would like to serve as a representative, please let me know. Better yet, if you fall into that elite group of NRA members and have problems or concerns you would like voiced to the board, please let me know.

A reminder to all the stock contractors and committees who hire the timers at their rodeos: a rule was put into effect in 1990 which stipulates that the minimum pay for timers possessing an NRA membership is $35 per performances, the same as judges. I am aware that in 1990 this rule was not strictly adhered to, nor was it enforced. Let's turn over a new leaf in 1991.

Just because I am a rodeo timer, those are not solely the people I hope to represent; add to the category of "Contract Personnel" announcers, secretaries, clowns, bullfighters, pickupmen, judges (non-competing), along with timers and any other contract personnel who do not compete for prize money in a rodeo and you have the group of people I represent. Please let me hear from you.

Tootie Rasmussen.

New rulebooks revised, ready

The 17th revised edition of the NRA rules, articles and by laws is off the press. Tootie Rasmussen came out of retirement and set the rulebooks into type.

Anyone wanting a new NRA rulebook should contact the NRA office or get one from your rodeo secretary.

NRA rulings and procedures on Trade-outs/ Turnouts

All NRA rodeos are tradeout rodeos unless advertised as "NO TRADEOUTS."

A contestant may trade positions/performances of competition with another contestant at anytime after entries close, provided it is before the draw for that event.

If a trade is completed before callbacks close, trades are handled through central entry and may continue to be handled up until 10 a.m. the day following callbacks.

After 10 a.m. the day after callbacks, all trades are handled through the NRA office.

Both parties involved in the trade must call the NRA office and confirm the trade.

Turnouts:

As stated in the rule book, if a contestant turns out at a rodeo, the fine will be equal to the entry fees. The NRA has rules which can soften the blow of an expensive turnout.

1. Notified turnout: If you know before 3 p.m.

the last working day before the first performance of a rodeo that you will not be competing at that rodeo, call the NRA office. You will be responsible for your entry fees plus a $20 fine. The fine is $20 (plus all entry fees) no matter how many events you are entered in. You must have your entry fees included in the payoff for that rodeo in which you will not be competing, so alternative ways to get your fees to the rodeo need to be considered.

2. If it is too late to notify, you can find someone who will pay your fees at the rodeo for you and notify the secretary/judge/contractor that you will not be there, your fine is half your entry fee (plus your entry fee).

Contractors/judges/secretaries/spectators/announcer and fellow contestants appreciate knowing if you will not be there, thus an animal will not be drawn and this will eliminate unnecessary turnouts.

Cheyenne honor Hawkeye Hensen and Phillip Whiteman

by Roger Clawson

Reprinted by permission from the Billings Gazette

May broke cold and wet in Cheyenne country. Snow lingered in the shadows and on pine boughs in the hills above the bronc riding school arena. Clouds smothered the sun. A chill wind raked the reservation.

World champion saddle bronc riders, Hawkeye Hensen of Texas and Lame Deer's Phillip Little Whiteman, rode the line of chutes trading banter with the cowboys manning the gates and shooting bits of last minute advice to students settling onto their mounts.

Aspiring rodeo stars from Canada to the Mexican line, hung on every word from the champions' mouths.

The students were a mixed lot - Cree from Canada, Hidatsa from North Dakota, Navaho from Arizona, young white cowboys from Wyoming.

Hidatsa youth Myron Johnson looked younger than his 13 years as he sidled up to Hawkeye to plead for "one last ride."

Hawkeye smiled. "You rode three head this morning. You did good, kid. Tomorrow's another day."

Just then, young Navaho Henry Hildreth burst from the chute on a horse that took two jumps, wheeled and fell.

"Jump off," Phillip shouted.

"Get yourself clear," Hawkeye urged.

Hildreth had come all the way from Arizona, paid his tuition and was determined to get his share of riding - wreck or no wreck. Holding the bucking rein high he braced himself for the bronc's lunge to his feet.

Hawkeye smiled. Phillip shook his head.

The morning's broncs, tough Indian horses provided by Contractor Leroy Comes Last, broke cleanly from the chutes and seldom failed to fire.

Tall, lean Crow teenager, Allen Joe Old Horn, bolted from the chute aboard a big paint.

"Lift! Lift! Lift!" Hawkeye shouted.

Hawkeye came to the Northern Cheyenne Reservation, where cowboys were indians, to help an old friend and receive an honor never before accorded a white man.

Three-time Pro Rodeo Cowboys Association world champion saddle bronc rider Hensen, had met Phillip, an Indian Rodeo world champion, on the pro circuit. The two had toured Europe with a show featuring Indian dancers, trick riders, and bronc riders.

Phillip's road to the world championship had been a long one. He battled both racism and booze. Fighting his way free of alcohol addiction, he was determined to help Indian youth walk the same trail. He would boost their self-esteem in the best way he knew how, teaching them to ride.

After consultation with Phillip, tribal officials and elders agreed to honor Hawkeye with a Cheyenne name and the eagle feather traditionally reserved for warriors.

The honor would be bestowed upon Hawkeye by spiritual leader Austin Two Moons.

If honoring a white man was a break with tradition, so is Two Moons' mission in life. Named for the war chief who lead Cheyenne warriors in a head-on assault of Custer's men at the battle of the Little Bighorn, Austin has been a tireless promoter of world peace.

The Cheyenne holy man who was once summoned to the Vatican to confer with the Pope, prayed over the white bronc rider and gave him a Cheyenne name.

Locals in the auditorium nodded approval. It was a good name, fitting and appropriate. Sounds familiar to a native ear but difficult to capture with a typewriter, spelled "Hawkeye" in Cheyenne.

The next day Phillip and I chatted on the phone. He was still excited about the award bestowed on his friend.

"You don't get it, do you?" I asked.

"What do you mean?" he said.

I shook my head. Phillip believed folks filling the auditorium has come to honor Hensen. He was wrong. Hensen IS an outstanding bronc rider, one of pro rodeo's greatest. But the people packing the tribal hall were paying their respects to one of their own.

They came to bask in the glory of a warrior

Tibbets wins Miller Roping

Lana Tibbets of Terry won Karen's Third annual Breakaway Roping in grand style with a 4.2, a 6.4, and a 5.7 — 25.5 seconds over the second place winner, Betty Benson. Lana's college fund increased $376 because of her superb roping ability. She's headed to the CNFR to make MSU and Montana proud. Benson earned $282 for her winnings.

Marla Jeffers placed third and won $188; Nancy Petersen placed fourth and won $94 in the three head roping.

Winners of the first and second go-rounds were Jody Petersen with a 3.6, and Chris McQueary with a 4.2. Sherri Hargrove and Karen Miller split the third round with a 4.5.

A record number of 32 ropers entered the annual event at the MBRA approved breakaway the Miller arena in Absarokee on June 8. Ken Drinkwater Horseshoeing donated a jacket to the winner of the average. Greg Jambor Horseshoeing donated caps to the winners of each go.

Correction:

Jim and Sylvia Gusick presented the buckles donated by Gusicks Restaurant during the NRA finals. We had the name wrong on last month's cover. However, Jim, Sylvia and John donated the buckles to the NRA finals winners. NRA news regrets the error.

returning from battle covered with glory. They came to venerate a man of means who hosted feasts, a tribesman with the power to summon heros, a teacher revered by his students, a role model admired by fathers and cherished by mothers.

When I told Phillip these things, he clouded over and grew misty.

Phillip Little Whiteman is a special commodity - a Cheyenne hero and a cowboy with the courage to cry.

NRA judges and officials remind NRA contestants, working personnel and parents that you are required to wear a long sleeve shirt and hat in the arena at all times during an NRA performance and slack.

President Bush has called for the finest July 4th of all. NRA members can help to salute Desert Storm veterans by dressing up their July 4th rodeos! Wear your very best cowboy duds in the rodeo arena!

The best for last

If you're wondering why Cinde Barthelmess of Lincoln is the only cowgirl in the Women's All Around standings, it is because she's the only female competitor to place in two events at any of the first four NRA rodeos. Cinde leads the ladies with $1,924.70 won this season. See current standings on page 17.
